1. Secretary D. M. Narasingarao. Intimacy with Banargis 1st wife visits Banargis house, dines with his wife during Dassara and birthday festivals gets sweets prepared out of Govt funds allotted for feeding of guests & sends them in large quantities to her. The clerk entrusted is V. Sreenivasa Rao in the Secretariat who makes up every year 3 to 4 thousands of Rs. The Secretary's wife and widowed mother-in-law publicly play tennis with the Secretary is minister to Yelandur Jaghirdar, whose wife is also the former's bed partner. The Secretary's character in morality is so loose. He eats flesh and drinks wine & so he is also irreligious. Pity what justice can be expected from such a reckless character & what safety for the country & the ruler? more details reserved

2. H.V. Nanjundiah an old rotten man ever partial to his Sect men As an example. Rama Sastry. Mysore college Sanskrit Pandit is by appearance 68 or 70 years. The Schedule shows his age as 61. Even this is more than Superannuation His work in college is for 4½ hours in a week. This being so instead of retiring him, the Vice chancellor & the Inspr. of Colls recommend to Govt for personal allowance of Rs 60 p.m. and the Diwan, supposed to be impartial administrator recommends or sanctions this in addition to his pay of Rs 60 p.m. Castman

5. Dorasamy Iyer — Very lazy officer, not sharp in disposal. A great Drunkard

6 Ramalingareddi — A notorious licentious man. Ruined many families in Mysore and is yet doing so. His retention in state service is disgraceful & calamitous to people and infamous to the State & may finally end in disastrous results.

7. M G Ramarao — Not an independent able officer, too lazy to work, depends on writings of Subordinates and Segrs their reports, writings and accounts, without even reading them, however important they may be, Himself cannot write a page. Drinks. Has no caste restrictions. Dines with all indiscriminately For work depends much on Iyengar assistant and a Mahomedan accountant. Cannot manage office ably. For appearance all goes smoothly. Fond of increasing establishing instead of diminishing and systematizing the work in the Dept.

General mean characters of the above as well as other officers of the State. If details are given in each individual case, a big book may be written & published. It may not be desirable. Hence summarized here.

(1) Every officer is fond of arranging his touring according to his personal convenience & for larger amount of batta & not according to public necessity

(2) In all offices the Menial Estt is according to present existing practice unnecessarily heavy if good work proper & offic convenience are considered. Out of 16 to 20 hands in the sanctioned scale, not less than 10 or 12 are employed in officers' homes. 10% in their assistants houses. Eliminating these in each office there will be 1 or 2 or not more than three.

the duties in officers houses are (a) to carry articles from shops (b) to hew firewood (c) to look after garden, dig plants &c (d) to clean cooked Vessels (e) to wash clothes
(f) to attend children (g) to sweep houses, boots, to light the lamps
(h) to sleep in the houses, to tend the cattle, to milch them and what not. Pity, the good servants, who in their menial service are the slaves of these lifeless unsympathizing officers; who are so mean as not to allow an hours rest to any one of the officers is so ~~ignoble~~ as not to employ good servants on private works. Each and every officer is no niggardly a beggar, that he cannot easily a single servant out of his pocket money. The servants who are so work, fail at times in their work, they at once incur the displeasure of masters & their tormentors oppression will be the results for the insignificant some cases they should be with Mean masters instances are fake private & not a single engagement
Health officers & Sanitary officers municipal offrs & are not doing their work properly. They should do it certainly there can never be cholera, Rheumatic or other infectious diseases. what they ought to do will be Sub is a separate memo of this Highness call for it

Police offrs do not do their work loyally & well otherwise there could be no crimes. what they ought to do is reserved for future

Medical offrs with a view to secure patients for private treatment and earning money, they neglect their general duty in hospitals & dispensaries, give medicines ineffectually & unthoroughly & more eager & keen away for for private treatment, there are many Heavy arrears in offices. Every officer, including the Dewan and Councillors, the administrative heads and down to Amildars, are frequently complaining of heavy work and ask for additional Establishment. This is due to inefficiency, laziness, ignorance and want of experience in officers. If they attend to every detail of work in their office, instruct their subordinates, type to work, after himself studying each item, then there whatever be any arrears. even the present Establishment is sufficient.

Judicial administration. Cases are entirely ruined by frequent adjournments, by employment of Bailiffs to obtain bribes, and do not derive summons they are a great source of this arrear. Details received.

General. The writer of this memo is a true loyal servant of the State and with long experience of age and public service is capable of giving more detailed account of each and every department + of prescribing a new scheme of Administration altogether, enterprise of in writing in course of a few hours. Whatever Statesmen blame to the foreigners of their age and therefore they fail in their duty. The scheme of Administration which once planned should be amended for the State's other Countries, simple advantageous, well thought, well principled impartial, unprejudiced & appreciable. Such a scheme will follow if this is appreciated. The writer begs this it the discontented officers condecend to supplies and bribes.

If the ruling sovereign always look to the rich and neglect the poor, what prosperity is there to the country. The remedy is to at once reduce the officers in no. & pay and reduce Taxation following comparison proved hardship of poorer class

Memo No 3 Continuation of Nos 1 & 2 Officers' characters, work and a brief sketch of past + present times

P. Raghavendra Rao Debauchery and drinking. Depends much on favorite's favorite. Raghavachar is respected and grieved by them. In the Excise dept, one headclerk promotions Raghavachar's character, who receives bribes in cases of ~~Consul. Regr. Ram Rao a poor man 2 years~~ well known to Kanta Rao, Hala Krishna Rao, Dasappa, Shamma Rao. The combination of these three in head office is dangerous and ruinous Rustga Rao Co-operative Societies dept. His legitimate duty is to 4 P.M. His office work is after 4. What good to country? what fame to Ruler from such office

K. Muthia Game office worse than a clerk. cannot write 4 sentences independently. only pretends to know Khoddah, deceives men by appearance. Each Khoddah provides him with from 5 to 8 thousand Rs in addn. swallows all rewards granted to Khoddah men, prepares false accounts, Concocts vouchers, false diaries.

Disastrous Result of too many depts and offrs. It has to be deeply considered, how and to what extent, the poor ryots are to supply fuel, milk grass, gram, articles of food etc to so many offrs of so many depts travelling so frequently with no other object than obtaining supplies and making batta.

Comparison between former & present time

Formerly	Now
(1) Chief commissioner	1 Ruler, 1 Dewan, 1 Pr. Secy. 1 Huz. Secy. 2 Councellors.
(2) one secretary	1 Rev. secy. 1 Gl. Secy. 1 Fin. Secy. 1 Muzroi Secy

(4) Secretariat on, manageable	Secretariat A good number of Superintendents
(5) Forest & Excise Joint office	Education office one attached to Secretariat

N.B The increase of expenditure, necessitated increase of Revenue by over taxing and ruining the poor ryots in these hard days of scarcity to overfeed the rich officers by exorbitant salaries, personal allowances, local allowances, travelling allowances. And these being in addition
